A FEARFUL SCENE.

Thrilling Adventure with Wild Beasts in an Sealing-wax-An Aps Falling into a Glue Pot-A Gorilla Changing his Spols.

From the Titusville Herald, July 19.] The life of an express agent has its dangers and difficulties as well as pleasures, and also at times is marked The London Times on the Secret with thrilling escape and wild advenure. The agent that handles the packages marked "this side up with care," and in the excitement of business reverses the position of things, stands as good a chance of being "blown up" as he who carelessly drops a can containing nitro-glycerin. Some queer express matter is handled occasionally, such as live rattlesnakes, marked handle carefully; a brace of fancy fowls, wild cats and cans, marked boned turkey, which contain glycersembling a chicken coop was received at the Titusville office of the Union Express Company, marked "D. Rice. Titusville, Penn. (half-dozen grapes.)
Do not annoy the contents." At first | The Emperor Napoleon to the Garde the attaches of the company paid but little attention to the "coop," which from its marks was supposed; to con-tain boxes of early grapes which the shipper desired handled carefully to avoid contusion and decay.

The day passed, but the consigner called not for his fruit, and measures were discussed as to the best manner in which to collect charges upon the same, when all discussion was ended by the "contents" of the box making a charge themselves; for in the twink ling of the extreme end of a lamb's back bone no less than several bald-headed, sweet-scented, mischievous monkeys had jumped from this Pandora's box and had taken possession of the office. It seems that pondent writes from Madrid, the 25th, the intelligent assistant express that the feeling of the Spanish Govagent at some point had in-tended to mark the box, "half dozen gray apes," but differing from Webster in his spelling, had thus caused the mistake and detention of a tendency, and have warned the Govbox of supposed fruit, which in reality was a consignment of moral mondure a base submission to a French keys for Dan Rice's show, and which, alliance under such circumstances instead of capering nimbly about up on Some of this sentiment is partly the backs of the sacred cattle to the shared by the army.
